BULGARIANS ARE PRESSING ON TOWARD CONSTANTINOPLE

Turkish General's Headquarters Reported to Have Been Taken; Adrianople May Have Fallen; Cholera Is Spreading

LONDON, Nov. 15.—As the censorship permits no news to come from the front, the situation at the scene of the fighting in the Balkans is more perplexing than ever tonight.

Various reports have drifted in, however, among them that Adrianople has fallen, that the Bulgarians had captured Iadimkeui, the headquarters of the Turkish commander-in-chief, that Nazim Pasha, the Turkish generalissimo, had capitulated, and that the Bulgarians either by sea or by land had reached the vicinity of Kilios, on the Black sea coast, a short distance from Constantinople.

These reports are without confirmation, however. A vague dispatch published at Sofia says six forts along the Tcharatja line have been captured, but that was described as heavy criticism on the part of Bulgarians. All the reports previously published, however, from the Vienna Reichspost, or emanating from other sources, go to show that the Bulgarians are having an easy task. Nothing is known as to whether the battle continues. The Turkish government has received no news from the seat of war for some days.

CHOLERA IS MAKING TREMENDOUS RAVAGES.

What perhaps is of graver import in the progress of the hostilities in southeastern Europe, is the revelation of the tremendous ravages cholera is making, not only among the destitute Bulgarians who daily are arriving by thousands at Constantinople, but among the Turkish troops on the battle lines.

It is supposed this danger might serve to give the Bulgarian commanders cause and induce the Bulgarian government to arrange an armistice and negotiate peace.

A Constantinople dispatch to the Home Gazette says Bulgaria has abandoned her intentions to enter Constantinople.

BULGARIA SUBMITS TERMS FOR PEACE

Proposals Are Sweeping and Cover All Demands of Victorious Army

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Bulgaria's terms for peace to Turkey, as reported in London and sent from that city by the respondent of the Daily Telegraph, consist of seven stipulations. Included in the first stipulation is the surrender of the Tcharatja army and its withdrawal, guarded by Bulgarians.

The second provides for the evacuation of the Turks of Adrianople, Tzar, Monastir and Janina. The third calls for payment of a war indemnity.

The fourth demands the surrender of all territory. The fifth calls for the internationalization of Constantinople.

The sixth provides for opening the Dardanelles and making Saloniki a free zone.

Bulgaria has already expressed willingness to leave the status of Constantinople and the Dardanelles to powers, says the correspondent, the seventh clause of the terms as reported here appear improbable.

Experiments Being Made on H. F. Robinson Who Spent Last Six Months on Summit of Pikes Peak

Experiments to show the effects upon the circulation and respiratory system of returning from a high altitude to a lower one, the first of their kind known to the scientific world, are being conducted by the biological department of Colorado college, of which E. C. Schneider is the head.

Tests offered from those conducted at Pikes Peak several months ago, at a person who has become acclimated to the altitude of 14,000 feet, living there for a period of six months, will be used for the purposes of determining scientifically the effects according to a lower altitude.

H. F. Robinson, who has had charge of the season just closed, has of himself for experimental purposes, lived on the Pikes Peak for six months and became acclimated to the altitude of 14,000 feet.

The medical profession is watching the experiment with much interest. The results of the tests have not been learned, but it is expected that within two weeks of a month the results of the experiment will be made public.

Dr. Schneider is being assisted by several students who are specializing in his department.

NEW TUNNEL TO COST $158,000

SURVEYS ARE ALREADY UNDER WAY

Water Department Has Plan to Save Seepage at Reservoirs

The construction of a tunnel for a distance of one and one-half miles through Mount Baldy, at an approximate cost of $158,000, or $20 a linear foot, is a plan designed by Mayor Avery and Water Superintendent McReynolds to receive and convey to Lake Moraine the seepage of water from reservoir No. 1 and reservoir No. 5.

Preliminary surveys for the proposed tunnel were begun yesterday morning by McReynolds and are to be completed at an early date when the proposition will be submitted to the city council.

The proposed tunnel is planned to effect the most extensive economy in the history of the city's water system. It is estimated that not less than 2,000,000 gallons of water, or about one-third the quantity daily consumed in the city, seep from the reservoirs.

This loss is regarded as unavoidable, even by construction of the tunnel, as the seepage occurs through the hills under the reservoirs.

The tunnel, it is estimated, would save the city many thousands of dollars annually.

From other points comes news of the occupation of the peninsula of Mount Athos by the Greeks and the march of the Greek army to Saloniki to join in the Serbian attack on Monastir.

This attack, according to a Belgrade dispatch, began yesterday with an encounter between the Serbian and Turkish cavalry near the city of Monastir.

The Turkish government has issued a batch of dispatches signed by various respondents of the Paris Temps and Journal des Debats, the Berlin Lokaleitung and Tagelblatt, the London Daily Mail, and other European papers, denying reports of atrocities alleged to have been committed by Turkish troops.

RODOSTO REPORTED TO BE IN FLAMES.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(Saturday).—A dispatch to the Morning Post from Constantinople says:

"Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier, arrived at the Russian embassy today and conferred with M. De Giers, the ambassador, on the subject of peace in the presence of M. Popoff, first dragoman of the Bulgarian legation, who has been staying at the Russian embassy since the outbreak of the war.

"The Bulgarians demand the surrender of Rodosto."

PETITION IS DENIED CAN FILE IT LATER

DENVER, Nov. 15.—The petition of the Progressive party for a recount of the vote of the recent election in Denver was denied late today by Judge John R. Dixon in the district court on the grounds that the petition was premature in that the official count had not been completed. This decision will allow the Progressives to present their petition again after the count is completed.

Grand and discrimination in the count of ballots was charged and an order to set aside the election commission from certifying to the count was asked until all alleged irregularities in half a hundred precincts had been investigated. Progressives claim they lost at least 2,000 votes.

Seven Persons Rescued From Utah Mine After Death Seemed Certain

HELD 300 FT. UNDERGROUND
Until Party Is Removed to Safety

FRISCO, Utah, Nov. 15.—Two young girls and five men were rescued one by one from the cave of the mouth of the Horn silver mine at 1 o'clock this afternoon while 60 miners from near and far and the men and women and children of the little town of Frisco cheered and sobbed with joy.

For 14 hours the seven had been held prisoners 300 feet below the surface of the ground, while the rescuing miners toiled in 15-minute shifts to clear away the mass of earth and timber that barred the way to light and air and life.

Two daughters of Mine Foreman Roy Alexander, Daisy and Hazel, aged 15 and 19 years, David Banks, Arnold Robinson, James Riley, John White and a Greek miner, whose name is not known, were on the 300-foot level of the mine at 10 o'clock last night. Some of the miners were at work and the girls and two of the young men were looking on, when there was a tremor of the earth, then a blast of wind that snuffed out every candle followed by another roar and quake and finally a stillness that made the dark more terrible.

People Panic Stricken.

Riley, a shift boss, felt his candle, hurried the party back into the drift beyond the danger of further caves and picked his way toward the shaft where the slide had taken place, finding the compressed air pipes still in position he tapped a signal to the men on top and a little later was able to make his voice heard through the pipe line.

The message of cheer came faintly to the surface but it brought relief to the anxious crowd which had begun to gather. News of the disaster spread throughout the region and the miners hurried from every direction to offer aid. In a very few minutes the work of rescue was under way and it continued without cessation until the picks and shovels pierced the mass of earth sealing the mouth of the drift and a safe exit was made for the marooned party.

Early in the morning apprehension was caused by a report that other miners were entombed in the lower levels of the mine, but a roll call accounted for every employee save those on the 300-foot level.

TO CALL EXTRA TARIFF SESSION

TO CONVENE CONGRESS
ABOUT APRIL 15

President-elect Wilson Says
Party Pledges Must Be Kept

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Governor Woodrow Wilson announced tonight that immediately after his inauguration as president of the United States, he would call an extraordinary session of congress to convene not later than April 15 for the purpose of revising the tariff.

The president-elect will sail for Europe at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for a vacation and will return September 16.

To set at rest speculation as to what he would do with regard to tariff revision, he issued the following statement:

"I shall call congress together in extraordinary session not later than April 15. I shall do this not only because I think that the pledges of the party ought to be redeemed as promptly as possible but also because I know it to be in the interest of business that all uncertainty as to what the particular terms of tariff revision are to be should be removed as soon as possible."

Beyond this brief announcement the governor said he had nothing further to say.

Statement Is Forced.

The governor did not intend to express himself about an extra session so soon after his election. Although he has favored the idea of an extra session, he had promised to spend more time in ascertaining public opinion. With the time to be consumed in discussion the governor felt that if an extra session were not called, the benefits of the tariff revision would be postponed practically two years.

Immediately upon his election the governor said he had nothing further to say.

FIGHT BREWING AT LABOR CONVENTION

Socialists Preparing for Supreme Test to Defeat Gompers for Reelection

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 15.—A fight against the administration of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor is to be taken up next week by Socialist delegates to the radical congress, number 84, according to J. Mahlon Barnes of Philadelphia, national campaign manager of the Socialist party, who will lead the fight. This group constitutes less than one-fourth of the delegates, but Socialists say many will come under the banner when the fight opens.

The first skirmish is expected when the committee on resolutions reports the resolution of Delegate Duncan of the United Mine Workers, providing for the election of officers of the federation by a referendum vote.

The Atlanta convention of the federation adopted a resolution favoring this method of election, provided it was found, upon investigation by officers, to be practicable. The report of the executive council indicated that it was not practicable.

Socialists say that officers of the federation, including President Gompers, are opposed to election by referendum and that if the plan is adopted, the defeat of President Gompers and his associates on the executive council is certain.

An unconfirmed rumor has it that Gompers, McDonald of the United Mine Workers is to be the opponent of Samuel Gompers.

The Mining Trades department held a brief session today to organize. Charles H. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners, president of the department, presided.

EACH SUPPOSED THE OTHER A DEAF MUTE

Taken for a deaf and dumb clerk by F. M. Amstutz, a St. Louis traveling man, who was in turn thought to have been without the powers of speech or hearing, Rudolph B. Downs, of the W. T. Lucas Sporting Goods company, had a unique experience yesterday afternoon.

Downs was selling a football to a group of students from the Deaf and Blind institute and carried on a conversation with the deaf mute by means of pencil and pad. When he finished the transaction, he turned to Amstutz who by that time he believed Downs to be deaf and dumb.

Amstutz wanted to sell some candy and believing Downs could neither hear nor talk started to write out his business on a stack of order blanks. Downs in turn supposed Amstutz was deaf and dumb and answered the questions with pencil and pad. The men conversed in that manner for a while until Amstutz was asked to leave.

When he returned to the store, Amstutz found that the deaf mute had been talking all the while and had been talking to him.

Contest Claim of Southern Pacific to Holdings in California

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Title to the oil lands claimed by the Southern Pacific Railroad company in California is being contested by the United States government. The contest is being fought in the federal court at San Francisco.

The land in controversy is in the San Joaquin valley. The Southern Pacific claims to have purchased the land from the United States government in 1866, and to have paid for it $1,000,000.

The United States government claims that the land was never purchased by the Southern Pacific, and that it is still owned by the United States government.

SOLDIERS ON U. S. SOILEL PASO, Tex., Nov. 15.—Four Mexican federal soldiers are held by United States troops at Hachita, N. M., subject to orders from the war department, says a report received today by General E. Z. Steever at Fort Bliss.
They fled across the river after their fellows were routed by a band of rebels at Colonia Fernandez, just below the New Mexico line.The refugees, who crossed into the United States with their rifles, report that a small detachment of federals met a band of rebels under Colonel Inez Salazar and after a sharp skirmish the government troops were dispersed.Rebels today became so bold as to smuggle several boxes of ammunition into Juarez, the border town threatened by attack. The cases were discovered by federal troops concealed in a wagon of hay on the public plaza.
The secret service has advised that rebels recently have been crossing from El Paso to the Mexican town. Unarmed, it is believed, these men were to assist with bombs when the external attack was made.However, prompt action of the United States military forces in arresting rebel leaders will prevent the planned attack, it is expected. The reported arrest at Albuquerque of Jose Cordova, secretary general to the revolution, is denied by General E. Z. Steever, al-cially by General Tracy Aubert in Juarez.REBELS' BULLETS KILLED

three persons at least were killed or badly wounded on the American side of the Mexican boundary last year by bullets fired during the fighting be-forces under Madero.This fact was developed by the special army board, headed by Col. Francis Keran, which has just returned to Washington from an inspection trip to El Paso, Tex., and Douglas, Ariz., where most of the trouble occurred.The board is satisfied that other persons, many of them Mexicans, received lesser injuries. Being charged merely to investigate and report to congress the extent of casualties, the board probably will not undertake to pass upon the question whether any Mexi-

American side is entitled to indemnity.ASK ARRANGEMENT

CHARLESTON, W. Va. Nov. 15.—Striking miners tonight attacked a passenger train on the Cabin Creek branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad. The miners stopped the train and refused to allow it to proceed because of carloads of alleged strike breakers were attached. Governor Glascock has ordered a company of state militia from this city to the scene.

EASY TO GET MONEY WHEN HE WANTED IT

COLE DALENE Ida. Nov. 15.—Testimony offered today in the trial of Bernard P. O'Neil, former president of the defunct State Bank of Commerce at Wallace, Ida., tended to show the great ease with which O'Neil got money when he wanted it.

When according to the testimony he owed the bank $700,000, evidence today showed that he borrowed $25,000 more from Edward T. Cowan, president of the Exchange National bank of Spokane on a written showing of assets amounting to over $700,000.

Harry Allen of Wallace testified that an overdraft he made for $3,288 and his note covering it, never were recorded in the books, but the state showed that such a note had been put on the books and paid by O'Neil charging it to his own account.

The prosecution announced that it would show O'Neil augmented his account by crediting it with other notes introduced today, which the state contends were forgeries, and that he realized $40,000 this way.

TO CALL EXTRA SESSION

Governor made up his mind to wait until after he returned from his vacation before making known his attitude, but upon finding as he said that opinion in favor of a special session was practically unanimous he felt no hesitation about making public his conclusion.

Though the president elect means to rest while in Bermuda, he really expects to give a good deal of time to quiet thought about the problems that face him. He will sketch his annual message to the New Jersey legislature and will do some extensive reading on the tariff, monopolies, banking and currency reforms, and other issues.

Attends Princeton "79" Dinner.

The governor came to New York tonight to attend the dinner given in his honor by his classmates, Princeton '79. He expected to have no political conferences while in the metropolis and seemed fully confident that he would not be disturbed by political matters while resting in Bermuda.

The president elect will sail on the steamship Bermudian, one of the regular boats plying between New York and Hamilton, Bermuda, and will arrive Monday. The president elect has leased a cottage on a remote part of the island.

Immediately upon arrival he will call upon the governor of the island and request him to consider his presence in Bermuda entirely informal and unofficial.

"I'm going to try to be in a good mood," Governor Wilson tonight said, "I may have no functions of any kind while there."

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS PLEASED WITH NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—General approval was voiced by Democratic leaders tonight over President elect Wilson's decision to call an extra session of congress to revise the tariff. The announcement was in line with almost universal recommendation of senate and house leaders and it met instant response tonight from Speaker Clark, Senator Williams, William T. Bryan and Senator Dixon. Colonel Roosevelt, campaign manager.

The news from New York today cleared the congressional air of the uncertainty and paved the way for active work on the part of Democratic managers during the coming weeks in preparation for the tariff session.

In all Democratic quarters the session was strongly approved. The ways and means committee of the house probably will begin work on the new tariff bill early in January.

Democratic Leader Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee is expected in Washington next week. Members of this committee agree with President-elect Wilson that repeated investigations of tariff schedules have made necessary a long investigation preliminary to making new measures for the extra session.

Wise Thing, Says Bryan.

The ways and means committee will begin probably upon the wool, cotton or metal schedules. If the plan of revising the tariff schedule by schedule is adhered to it is expected that several bills will be ready for introduction in the house as soon as the special session convenes.

William J. Bryan, when informed of Governor Wilson's announcement, said the president-elect had done the "wise thing."

Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, long Democratic leader of the house and a Democratic leader in the senate, said tonight:

"It would be wise to confine ourselves at this extra session to the tariff and to trust legislation, with such routine business as may be practicable to get through."

Senator Dixon's Statement.
Senator Dixon of Montana, chairman of the Progressive national committee, said:

"I think Mr. Wilson has done the wise thing in calling an extra session. This secures the administration and the Democratic party an opportunity to put into actual practice their promises made during the campaign."

Will the Democrats receive the support of the Progressives in revising the tariff? Mr. Dixon was asked.

"That will depend upon their performance," he said.

"There are about 25 Progressive members of the house who will caucus separately and be a separate political entity and no doubt they will be glad to support the Wilson program if it squares with their own belief."

"But remember the Progressives are protectionists," added the senator laughing.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota expressed the Republican view saying:

"I suppose the sooner he starts the disturbance the better. I do not think the Democrats will attempt to put through such a measure as their platform calls for. I do not think they dare do it. I never knew an extra session that did not defeat the man who called it. President Taft had a dose of it."

Used Some Scheme

This scheme the Democrats agree also was used in them and is all right as to counties by this point out that the official popular Progressive vote in the state will be the vote for that one candidate who stands first in the state as a whole. This certainly will be Wallace and his total vote the Democrats argue, cannot be the very nature of things be as great as the highest Progressive vote taken county by county because in some counties he ran behind his ticket.

So they hope to win, affirming that Thomas J. Griffin leading Democratic elector, was not scratched anywhere and his official vote will run ahead instead of behind the vote now credited to him. Setting this equality or gain against what they consider Wallace's certain loss, they predict that the man receiving the highest vote in California will be a Democrat.

HSIANG NEW MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

PEKIN, Nov. 15.—Lu Ching Hsiang, former premier and minister of foreign affairs, has been given again the portfolio of the latter office. Lu Ching Hsiang once was minister to Russia and possesses the confidence of the Russian government which is considered desirable as China intends to accept Russia's invitation to discuss Mongolian affairs hoping to substitute a new Russo-Japanese treaty for the Russo-Mongolian convention.

Public feeling is strongly anti-Russian and many telegrams demanding that action be taken against Mongolia are being received from the provinces, although the minister of war recently declared it would be impossible for China to defeat Mongolia if the latter country were backed by Russia. The agitators are principally young Chinese.

Yuan Shi Kai retains control of the situation.

TAFT NOT TO RECOMMEND REPEAL FREE TOLL BILL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Taft told official visitors today he did not expect to recommend to congress the repeal of the free toll provision made in the Panama canal bill last summer for American coastwise vessels.

A second portion of the report of Prof. Emory R. Johnson the expert upon whose investigation the president based his recent proclamation of tolls became public today and contains strong recommendations against free tolls for American ships.

Professor Johnson's report did not discuss the diplomatic aspect of the canal toll matter and was prepared before Great Britain entered its protest against the exemption of coastwise vessels.

STORES PREPARING FOR RUSH OF THANKSGIVING

The approach of Thanksgiving is heralded by typical displays in the shops, symbolizing the altruistic spirit that surrounds the day. There is a wealth of gifts expressing sentiment in form of jewelry and books and pretty trinkets, and a more characteristic offering of good things to eat for the Thanksgiving shopper.

Art replicas of strutting turkeys and of golden pumpkins, with scenes of Puritan days and Plymouth Rock, including the romance of John Alden and Priscilla, are Thanksgiving decorative effects. In the windows. Post cards adorned with happy scenes appeal for the return home of wanderers.

Thanksgiving, November 28, will be celebrated in Colorado Springs with worship, with cessation of business and with feasting. In some of the churches the Thanksgiving services will be offered the Sunday preceding the festival. The poor will be remembered Thanksgiving day by the Associated Charities in the distribution of baskets filled with good things to eat, and by the People's Mission with a free dinner to the homeless and hungry. The Salvation army celebrates Christmas for the poor.

The school children will have a holiday all of Thanksgiving week, permitting the teachers to attend the meeting of the State Teachers association in Denver. The Thanksgiving vacation at Colorado college will extend from November 27 to December 1.

The afternoon of Thanksgiving day there will be a football game at Washburn field between Colorado college and Denver university. A large delegation of enthusiasts is expected from Denver on a special train.

The event of Thanksgiving night will be the sixth annual ball of the Pioneers Relief association in Temple theater. The proceeds are devoted to a fund for the benefit of police, officers and their families in case of sickness, distress or death.

The "Isle of Dreams" will be the attraction at the opera house.

Turkeys Will Be Fine

Turkey, the piece de resistance of the Thanksgiving feast, is plentiful this year, and according to market indications will retail at from 20 to 25 cents a pound. The quality is unusually fine. Spring and summer rains brought plentiful grain for the turkeys, and eliminated a scarcity of the fowl. Most of the turkeys on the local market come from Colorado and Kansas.

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEWA BERNHINE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble, and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but I read that I had better take your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the idea of an operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

The Church as a Social Agency

By CHARLES STELZLE.

It has become quite a common thing among social workers and sociological professors to ridicule the church because of its alleged inefficiency in social work. To do this, the social workers have to consider that this criticism is no doubt justifiable, for the church—like any other institution—is just beginning to grasp the fundamental principles who must be at the bottom of all sociological research and recommendation. In these discussions it often is forgotten that we have not yet mastered even the elements of the problem of society. Theories have been formed from the examination of groups of isolated facts; but life is complex. It is unfair to rush to final conclusions. Until the last item has been presented we cannot afford to be dogmatic. There are many factors to be considered that no man has either the wisdom or the ability to pose as an infallible teacher of sociology. Therefore, the time has not yet come for any self-appointed body of social workers to despise what the church has done in history, nor yet what the church is doing today in matters of social reform.

A constructive criticism is always in order and should be welcomed by every honest churchman, but the criticism that one hears in the average class in sociology is usually based upon narrow prejudice, which, however, is mistakenly termed "a liberal attitude" toward all religious forces, programs and doctrines. If the same scientific and impartial study that is advocated with reference to other forces in society were applied to the church there would be no cause for complaint; but ordinarily the professor will condone the greatest moral and mental obliquity in men and movements outside the church, while he will absolutely ignore the fine spirit which has animated the church and its adherents from the beginning of its history.

What is the church doing in the matter of social reform? Certain reformers scorn the claims that it is rendering real service in this connection. It is true that the church is not a social reform agency in the sense that it makes this its chief function, but even a cursory study of the situation must convince the open-minded student that the church is an important factor in social service. It gives to every man the right to accept whatever economic theory he desires so long as its application does no violence to the rights of others and so long as it is in accord with fundamental moral principles. But the church has a positive position and work in this matter. It has undertaken important studies of social conditions throughout the country which easily match the efforts of professional social workers.

Several of the National Home boards of the Churches of the United States have long had "Bureaus of Social Service" or "Departments of Church and Labor" and they have been grappling with social problems in the city and in the country, employing experts for the purpose of making sociological surveys and suggesting the most up-to-date methods for meeting the needs discovered. There are in the employ of these boards men who are regarded as authorities on these subjects, and who are consulted by the leaders in social work outside the church. The evolution in the thinking of men with regard to the function of the church concerning modern social problems has not caught these home mission agencies napping.

The church has come out in "pro-nouncements" upon certain economic conditions which might well have been set forth by the workers themselves. They could not have been more emphatic and concrete. But perhaps the chief function of the church in these matters is that of supplying the men and the women who are the leaders in social reform affairs. The study of over 1,000 professional social workers as to church affiliation shows that of those who were associated charity workers 92 per cent were church members of the church, and of general social workers 71 per cent were church members.

As a matter of fact, the church practically controls through its membership nearly every great philanthropic movement of any consequence. Glance at the list of directors and verify this statement. Practically all of the money that goes to the hospitals, orphan asylums, clubs and charitable institutions of various kinds come from church people. Without them these could not exist. Recognizing that there is a great work to be done in the matter of social reform which must reach down to fundamental things, let it not be forgotten that the wounded in life's battle must meanwhile be cared for. To these the church ministers freely. At the same time it is developing most of those who will fight for the bigger things in social reform.

MAYOR WILL MAKE CUT OF VARIOUS REQUESTS

A general reduction in estimated expenditures of the various city departments for 1913 has been accepted as the only solution of the problem confronting the administration as the result of heavily overdrawn estimated revenues. This alternative is presented in view of the fact that the commissioners have failed to endorse the recommendation of Mayor Avery for the enactment of ordinance taxing public utility corporations and educational institutions as a source of revenue for present needs.

Occasional conferences are being held between the mayor and the commissioners, but the deadlock remains unbroken. With no prospect of relief as the budget must be submitted to the council next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock the time of adjournment taken at the session last night. The situation was made more difficult yesterday by the fact that the revenue which may be derived from Santa Fe railroad taxes for 1910 and 1911 is $312,322 instead of $122,233 as originally estimated. This difference is caused from an erroneous report to Mayor Avery and commissioner of Finance Whitaker in transmitting records from the original estimate being made on county instead of city taxes.

Another shortage of $2,000 in revenues is caused by a report from the assessor placing the assessed valuation at $2,044,360 instead of $2,000,000, adding a revenue of $47,887.22 instead of $50,000.

OPERATION PERFORMED ON VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Simon of 3 East Pikea Peak avenue was injured 10 weeks ago yesterday when a motorcycle which they were riding to Broadmoor was struck by an automobile in a critical condition at a local hospital but physicians hold out hope for her recovery. Saturday it was feared that she might not survive an operation.

A personal damage suit for $10,000 is pending against the driver of the machine charged with responsibility for the accident. Mr. Simon's condition is slightly better.

NEW PARCELS POST SYSTEM SHOULD PROVE OF GREAT BENEFIT TO COLORADO SPRINGS

Cost of Sending Packages by Mail Will Effect Big Saving Over Other Ways

According to officials of express companies in Colorado Springs, there will be no decrease in express rates as the result of the operation of the parcels post, which will be effective January 1. Detailed information as to the operation of the law has not been received at the local office, but preliminary statements show that, instead of competition of large eastern wholesale houses by mail order trade, parcels post rates will practically prohibit it here.

INTERSCHOLASTIC PENNANT AT STAKE IN GAME TODAY

Eaton Expects to Win and so Do Bair's Terrors; Kick-Off at 2:30 p. m.

Rounding the three-quarter post and running a nice pass to the interior, the Terrers' championship of 1934 ended. The Terrers will meet one of the toughest obstacles of the season this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Washington field.

Terrers Strike "Stride"

Coach Burd of the Brown is also present over the outlook for his squad. I think of the team to put up the best game of the season. We haven't met any high school team that has given us much of a run yet and I believe the Brown players will put up a tough match. The Terrers are in good shape physically, with the exception of

The Terrorists went through night signals practice last night, and Fowler spent considerable time sharpshooting with his toe at the goal posts with a good degree of success. Fowler will be the Terror punting while Minnack will act for the victors.

May Be Open Game.

What sort of play will feature the game is not known, and it will depend upon how strong the teams find each other. Coach Hicks did not know what kind of play he would use, but admitted that his team could shoot several passes as well as smash the ball. The Terrorists will probably use much of the overhead game, in which they have starred this year.

Tonight the Eaton squad will be guests of the High school at a dance.

"Coaches never win football games in newspaper statements and I will do my part on the field tomorrow," said Coach Hoke of the Eaton team last night. The team plays good football and clean football and I know we will receive the best of treatment from the hands of the 1-6 of football fans should attend this game as this is probably the last year of football for C. F. H. S. and probably for all the high schools in the state.

SPLENDID CIVIC SERVICE

COLORADO SPRINGS is a city of parks. Probably no other city in the nation has so large a park area in proportion to population as does Colorado Springs. It is a big job to care for our many acres of parks, but it is a job that is splendidly done. Every visitor to the city is immediately struck by the splendid condition in which the parks are kept.

All this reflects the greatest credit upon the members of the park commission. They serve absolutely without pay, and they are compelled to give many hours to their work. They are all busy men, their time is worth much money, but for the sake of the beautification of the city they have given willingly both of time and of money to their unremunerated civic duty.

They have not done all that could be done, of course. There are innumerable improvements that might be made, if only the money were available. For instance, the grounds around Prospect lake could be improved, and made into one of the city's most beautiful attractions, if only the park commission had the $25,000 necessary to do the work.

But this will all come in time. If the council passes the ordinance transferring the Prospect lake property to the park department as it undoubtedly will do, then the park commission can begin the work of creating a park there, spending as much money as can be spared each year. Possibly soon it will be found feasible to issue bonds for the improvement of this park.

But, however that may be, citizens of Colorado Springs may well feel that the parks are in good hands. Not a cent of the money appropriated for their upkeep and improvement is wasted. And, best of all, the park commission has been wise enough to develop our parks along original lines to make them harmonize with their setting.

Since the only pay the members of the park commission receive is the appreciation of the people, that appreciation should be given most generously. And every cent that can be spared from the city's funds should be given to the park commission, since it is our parks that, more than anything else except our climate and our mountains and canons, that attract visitors to the city.

PROTECTION AT LAST

ON JANUARY 1, next, the treaty between Russia and the United States, in effect since 1832, will cease to exist. Under its terms Russia persistently refused to recognize the rights of American Jews, and the treaty was finally denounced by the United States. President Taft hesitated long before taking this action, fearing it would result in breaking off commerce with Russia, and was finally driven into the course adopted only because if he had not acted congress would have done so.

But the fears of the president were not justified. Already a new treaty, it is announced, has been practically negotiated. Under it commerce between Russia and the United States will proceed, as under the old. But, better than that, Russia will recognize the full rights of all American citizens, regardless of their birth. An American Jew will no longer be discriminated against. He will have every right, and every safeguard, possessed by any other American citizen.

And that is worth more than any amount of foreign commerce.

A MINORITY VICTORY

SAYS William Jennings Bryan, writing for the newspapers:

"If the complete returns show a large gain in the Democratic vote it will furnish encouragement to believe that the party has made a permanent advance.

"If, however, the victory must be credited wholly to a division in the Republican party, the Democratic party will have even more reason to be on its good behavior, for a failure to rise to the requirements of the occasion will not only disappoint the Democrats, but will relegate the Republicans."

The complete returns, though not yet complete, will show an actual decrease in the Democratic vote for Wilson as compared with the vote for Bryan four years ago. As Bryan says, this is all the more reason why the Democratic party must be on its good behavior; it does not yet have behind it a majority of the people; it is a minority party, as it has been for many years past.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

CHAIRMAN ALLISON STOCKER of the Progressive party of Colorado should receive the hearty support of every Progressive in the state in his announced intention of going right ahead with the work of building up a strong party organization in this state. There is every indication that the Progressive party will be even more badly needed in Colorado in 1914 than it is today.

"I'm not at all impressed by the character of men elected to the legislature," said a prominent Democrat the other day. And there is plenty of reason for his fears. The men who were floated into office on the Wilson tidal wave are, many of them, utterly unfit for the positions. Colorado has been cursed for years past with weak and venal legislators. There is nothing to indicate that the legislature which will convene next January will be any improvement over its predecessors. It may even be worse. There is only the fear of the initiative and referendum and recall to hold it in check.

Knowing what the Democratic party has given Colorado in the way of bad government in the past, that the recently elected officials apparently offer no improvement, and that to elect Republicans is merely jumping from the frying pan into the fire, all Progressives should work unceasingly for the upbuilding of the party. Colorado will recognize, before many months are past, the overwhelming need of a party which owes nothing to any machine, or to any corporation. There is only one such party in existence, and that is the Progressive party. It must be strengthened and equipped for the work that lies ahead of it.

A NEEDED ORDINANCE

IT HAS been demonstrated, in every city that has endeavored to regulate automobile driving, that a certain class of automobilists can be restrained from their desire to "burn up" the roads only by the fear of imprisonment. Fines are nothing to them; when caught, they pay them without grumbling, regarding them only as vexatious impediments to fast driving, in the same class with such other nuisances as sharp turns, bumps in the road and farmers' wagons that refuse to turn out.

A few scorchers can bring the whole fraternity of automobile owners into disrepute. They are dangerous, not only to pedestrians, but to fellow-automobilists, and most of all to themselves. There are a few of the species in Colorado Springs, whose ardor the police have been unable to abate by mere fines. For that reason the ordinance just prepared, and under which the court will be at liberty to impose imprisonment as well as fines for fast and reckless driving, ought by all means to receive the approval of the council.

It will make the streets of Colorado Springs safer, not only for pedestrians, but for automobilists as well.

BENEFITS OF A BIG CORN CROP

From the Kansas City Times.
The corn crop of the United States this year, 3,699,000,000 bushels, produced on 108,000,000 acres, is 242,000,000 bushels greater than any previous crop, and it represents a benefice to the country the value of which is beyond calculation. The money value of the crop on the basis of present prices is about $1,850,000,000, but probably 80 per cent of the crop will be fed on or near the farm where it is grown, and the returns to the grower will come from the live stock that he fattens for market rather than from the sale of the grain.

Not only is the corn crop big beyond precedent, but the yields of hay, oats and rough fodder crops are greater than ever before. The country is full of feeding stuffs for live stock, but the supply of cattle and hogs is below normal. The result probably will be a better quality of meats in the next year than ever before, because farmers will feed more corn than usual to each animal fattened, and the deficiency in numbers will be partially made up by increase in weight.

The farmer will get a good deal more for corn that is fed to live stock than for the grain that he sells, and at the same time there is likely to be enough of an increase in the marketing of fat animals to reduce the price of meat, though live stock men expect that remunerative prices will be obtained for cattle and hogs during the next year.

The big feeding crops mean increased prosperity for the farmer and at the same time some reduction in the prices consumers must pay for meats, thus bringing a blessing to everybody.

ANOTHER PHTHISIS CURE.

From the Kansas City Journal.
Another alleged infallible cure for the "Great White Plague" is announced by a distinguished German physician, and the civilized world will acclaim him the great benefactor of the race if his claims are substantiated. The world has learned from sad experience, however, that such announcements are too often made without sufficient foundation, though in all sincerity of belief. That tuberculosis will ultimately be conquered, as have been so many other dread scourges of the race, may be taken for granted. The combined science and philanthropy of the world are focused upon this subject. Money without stint is at the disposal of those who are making a vigorous assault all along the line upon this almost the last unconquered malady that afflicts the human race. The miracles of scientific truth and faith have been duplicated in the laboratories of modern medical and surgical science. Marvels undreamed of only a few decades ago are now the everyday incidents of the clinic. The achievements of the physicians and surgeons of these days stagger belief, and yet there still are diseases before which they stand helpless for the most part, though there is none in the treatment of which encouraging advances have not been made.

The method employed by Dr. Friedmann, the reported discoverer of this new curative specific, which is said to be well-nigh infallible, is academically interesting and, so far as the average student is competent to form an opinion, appears to be "on the right track." The treatment consists in the injection of tubercle bacilli which have been rendered "benign." In the technical language of medical science, "The most notable achievements of recent years have been in the field of serums, anti-toxins, immunization and bacillary isolations generally. Whether the greatest of all the problems that have been attacked by modern medical science has been solved by this particular investigator is not for general consideration, to whom the whole subject is the same mystery it ever has been. The medical fraternity itself will probably be slow to make any pronouncement that shall run the risk of being premature. But layman and professional will join in the earnest hope that the enthusiastic statements already made will be abundantly verified by developments. A thousand Nobel prizes could not adequately compensate the scientist who overcomes that modern Minotaur which demands such a frightful annual toll from the human race.

PREPAREDNESS IN THE DARK.

From the Chicago Tribune.
In the United States, preoccupation with our own war of hanks has distracted attention due the dramatic overthrow of the Turkish military power in Europe. The distant glory of Plevna darkens under the clouds of Lule Burgas and Saloniki. An army, thought, at least by laymen, to be one of the most formidable in the world, is defeated all along the line by the forces of three minor powers, and, though desperately fighting, has proved only the utter demoralization of a once mighty war machine. The unexpected weakness of the Turkish military establishment detracts nothing from the honors won by the Balkan allies, especially by the Bulgarians, whose strategy and tactics, to say nothing of their well-known valor, have appeared to be of the most brilliant character. The war is keenly astonishing for the high quality of efficiency shown by the allies, and illustrates how much can be accomplished by careful preparation. The campaign, so far as it can be studied in the meager reports from the seat of war and the main facts of the contest, reveals much the same degree of preparedness as the Germans showed in 1870, so far as general plans are concerned, and perhaps even more tactical brilliancy in execution.

At any rate, the tragic lesson of unpreparedness and decay is given on the Turkish side, and it is to be hoped will not altogether be lost upon Americans, especially upon the Democratic army and navy constructionists in congress.

The Folly of Making Enemies

By RUTH CAMERON.

Once upon a time a young woman had unintentionally offended a friend of hers. Another friend went to her, told her how she had antagonized their mutual friend and urged her to explain matters and win her friend back.

The young woman refused. Finally the peacemakers Mrs. B. is an influential woman; she is valuable to have as a friend.

"What do I care?" said the obstinate one. "I am going away from here in a few weeks, and shall probably never see her again."

She went away. Ten years afterwards she came back, a widow and penniless, to earn her living in the town she had never expected. Mr. B. who had found that the position of a librarian which she hoped to obtain was practically in the gift of the woman whose friendship she had said she would never need.

Yes, she got the position, but only because the woman she had antagonized was one of those rare souls who are willing to pass by the false and tawdry glitter of vengeance for the real gold of self-conquest.

Now it seems to me that there are a great many people who, like this woman, are careless how they lose or antagonize their friends when they think they will not meet them again.

How selfish and cold hearted and mercenary this is. I don't need to say. But what I want to point out is that, ethical considerations entirely aside, it is never wise to throw away a friend no matter how far apart you think your paths will be. The whirl of circumstances that tends us willy nilly, hither and thither, may bring you close together again in a month. And no matter how unimportant he seems, some day he may be quite as necessary to you as the little mouse was to Aesop's lion.

Besides there is another point of view which an experience of a friend of mine illustrates. He once applied for admission to a desirable club and was promptly blackballed; and this was the reason: His cousin had once belonged to that club, and just before his departure to another city had gotten into trouble with the club's officers. Feeling that he wasn't going to be there any longer, and so it didn't matter, he had thoroughly freed his mind to them. The resulting antagonism made trouble for this cousin of whom he happened to be very fond.

When you antagonize anyone you start circles of trouble which reach distant shores. It may be a trifling thing, but it may be someone else whom you wouldn't injure for the world who will suffer.

When it is necessary to antagonize anyone in order to stand up for a principle, in cases of such necessity, the consequences will take care of themselves. But otherwise don't do it. It doesn't pay.

UTAH

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Utah"

Utah is a large tract of reformed desert land located around the largest collection of brine in the world and surrounded by more desert on all sides. When discovered it was very lonely and was avoided by the cowboys because of its climate and lack of shade. But man has improved Utah until she blooms with roses and raises enough grain to feed herself in spite of the fact that she exceeded the speed limit for many years in raising families.

Utah was not intended for human residence any more than Texas was, but when the Mormons located there, in 1847, they were too good to go on, and the country had been getting steadily worse for 500 miles. So they borrowed all the rivers in the vicinity and turned them into the desert. Water a stock and it will produce automobiles, private yachts and congressional investigations. Water a desert and it will produce bumper crops. In the spring the Utah farmer chases a river over his land and in the summer he piles dust over the ground and waits for the harvest. Dry farming is very successful in Utah, and is not as exasperating as dry farming in Maine.

Utah is famous for its Mormons, who have built great churches and industries, and who work together in politics better than Tammany hall. Politics in Utah doesn't concern itself with the tariff. The only issue is the Mormon vote, and it takes pretty good bait nowadays to catch it.

Utah is also famous for its great Salt Lake, across which the Southern Pacific has built the longest bridge in the world. The state has handsome mountain bridges, natural bridges, which are tall enough to let the Singer building pass under without raising a draw, and liberal deposits of gold and silver. It has several great mines and a number of railroads in good working order, but not enough to congest it with population. It has 315,000 people, of whom about half pay one-tenth of their income to the Mormon church and do not make as much fuss about it as the ordinary man when he pays $11.43 in taxes.

Utah became a state in 1896, at which time the Mormons agreed to marry with moderation and restraint. Salt Lake City, an enormous little city of 100,000 people, is its capital, and Ogden is the only other settlement visible from a fast train.

NURSE RECOVERING AFTER BLOOD GIFT

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 15.—The third day after the operation for the transfusion of 16 ounces of blood into his veins in a last effort to save his life found Orville Browning resting comfortably at Hurley hospital. Last Monday afternoon Browning, who has been attending a local business college, was so near death from hemorrhages following an operation for appendicitis that it was believed he could survive but a few hours. THE MASKIN LETTER

I—THE CRUSADE FOR ITS ABATEMENT

By FREDERIC J. MASKIN.

The investigation of the problems of smoke and smoke abatement just completed by the University of Pittsburgh, promises to constitute an epoch-making event in the world-wide crusade against the evils of unnecessary smoke. Taking up all the phases of the problem and making a thorough study of the influence of smoke upon health, wealth and well-being, in American cities in general and in Pittsburgh in particular, the experts of the university have given to the world a series of papers that will prove to be a very arsenal of arguments against the continuation of the useless and terribly wasteful pollution of the air by unnecessary smoke.

Few movements for civic betterment have yielded such quick results as may be already credited to the crusade against the smoke nuisance. Where cities once pointed with pride to the smoking chimneys of their factories as evidence of the prosperity there abiding, now they point with shame to the spectacle, and seek by law to abate the smoke as a nuisance. While most municipalities have found some trouble in enforcing their ordinances against the smoke nuisance, on the other hand they have been greatly aided by the immediate and direct results of the smoke prevention movement. The profits of smoke prevention are not so remote as the profits of disease-preventing crusades. They are evident from month to month, evident in reduced coal bills, evident in the factory owner's regards as too high at best.

Smoking Chimneys Out of Date.

Smoking chimneys are no longer fashionable in the engineering world. They proclaim imperfect installation or poor firemanship. The man who today installs a new furnace regards a smoking chimney as a perpetual indictment against him, while the man who is responsible for the firing system knows that it proclaims his inefficiency to his professional brethren. The factory owner himself knows that it tells more of the inefficiency of his establishment than a hundred wayside signs could tell of the merit of its product.

Wherever one picks up an engineering journal, he finds instances related of the saving of money by factories and office buildings where the smoke nuisance is abated. Here a factory tells of saving one-fifth its coal bill by improved methods of firing; there a railroad shows it has moved thousands of tons more freight with thousands of tons less coal because of its abatement of unnecessary smoke; a bank tells of saving money by the use of a simple method, by which it helps along the movement for civic betterment and cuts down the expense of operating its plant, simply by installing smoke consumers.

One by one cities have enacted laws to abate the smoke nuisance, and have provided machinery for their enforcement, until today only such places as are content to live with a reputation as being "only manufacturing towns," are to be found without some ordinance controlling the smoke nuisance. New York has such a law, and it has been enforced so effectively that it encourages other cities.

The public health officer of Rochester is left to be desired in the manner of its enforcement. Whether the violator has been some east side tenement house owner or a big traction company, fines have been imposed and preventive measures demanded.

The St. Louis Report.

St. Louis has been investigating the subject and one of the best reports brought out has been issued by its committee. In its investigation one big merchant said that he loses from 7% to 12% per cent on the cost of his dry goods as a result of damages from smoke. Another merchant declared that it cost twice as much to keep his store and stock clean in St. Louis as it costs an equal merchant with approximately the same stock and floor space. The public librarian declared that the damage to the books in the public library amounts to $10,000 a year, and a book and stationery store placed its loss at the same figure.

One of the arguments used against smoke prevention efforts in St. Louis was that it would yield no important results to the public at large because East St. Louis, situated a-ross Mississippi, was not planning a similar crusade. But investigation showed that less than 10 per cent St. Louis smoke came from across the river. The city now has anti-smoke ordinances which have been declared constitutional, and boasts of upw of a thousand plants equipped v smoke-preventing devices.

Chicago is laying the foundations a great smoke abatement crusade wh will extend even to the extinction the smoke-spouting railroad locomotive in that city. If the plans go awry, it is proposed to electrify al the railroad terminals of the city, average of nearly 1,700 locomotives at work in the 165 railroad yards the Windy City, and with its characteristic determination to do well wh ever it undertakes, this city proposes abolish them along with the smoke factory chimney. The committee h ling the situation in charge now ha smoke laboratory rigged up on a m truck, and the chemist in charge is lining about the city gathering samples air and analyzing them.

How Large Cities Handle It.

Cleveland has abated more than per cent of its smoke in the past years, and Milwaukee is witnessing installation of smoke-consuming plants in about a hundred establishments a year. Washington is making grants towards the elimination of sm While the effort of the district commissioners to induce congress to quire the electrification of the rail terminals failed because of the rejection of the railroad companies' representation thoroughly disproved the Pennsylvania and New York Central experience in New York—ear firing with hard coal has helped situation a great deal. The district commissioners showed that smoke s convention, like charity, may begin home, by installing in the new mup al building a smoke consuming p that has given perfect satisfaction.

One of the most interesting instar of what a big factory may do in way of preventing smoke is affor by a large electric plant in Chic having furnaces for 10,000 horsepo boilers. It uses mechanical stot and its chimneys have been sed from smoke that men carrying canis have observed in the neighborhood st maintained that it had not been in operation for six months. They b their opinion upon the fact that smoke had issued from the chimney in that time.

Cincinnati has met with much cess in a smoke abatement motem It was the first big city in the Un States, after Chicago, to pass a sm abatement law. Cincinnati has elaborate system of watchm during last year nearly 70,000 effe observations were made for the purpose of detecting smoke violations noted the railroads joining in union station terminal movement agree to do everything practicable down to the reconstruction of the ten for the abolition of unneces smoke. President Taft is a member the Smoke Abatement league of Cincinnati.

Rochester Has One of Best. Rochester has one of the most aggressive of all the smoke abatement organizations of the country. It has sued a pamphlet which is a remarkable contribution to smoke abatement literature. The chamber of commerce notified a committee on smoke abatement, and this committee took up matter as a business man's commi to study it from the standpoint of business men. They use the old kerosene lamp to illustrate how sm is produced. If the wick be turned high too much oil comes up and lamp smokes because the fire can consume it all. On the other han the little holes at the bottom of the wick are plugged up, it smokes if the wick is at normal height, enough air cannot get in to pro through combustion. The sm furnace, on the same principle, tale of too much fuel or too little work it sent a letter to every big establishment in the city announcing

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES

MARY McKINNEY SHIPPED

38 CARS DURING OCTOBER

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 15.—The Mary McKinney output for last month was 38 cars, shipped by the company and by lessees, eight cars going out from the lessees.

The company sent out 30 cars which is at the rate of a car a day with the ore sitting at $30 a ton.

A new strike has been made by Lessee E. F. Smith in the Howard shaft and it is said to be three or four ounces per ton. While enough work to determine the extent of the strike has not been done it is declared that it will be a winner.

According to an official of the company the water has just gone out of the 300-foot level which is 125 feet below the eighth and within the last three days work has started on the running of the level at that point. It will be necessary to tunnel 200 feet before the main vein is opened and after the vein is tapped the shaft will then be about 800 feet long. It has been proven in two places which have been sunk below the eighth level. There is plenty of ore above eight as the work on that level has hardly started. Six machines are running at that depth working two developments of the main vein.

With the development of the main vein and the opening of all the ore that is expected the company will be in a position to pay dividends for some time to come many years in the least.

The work in the other parts of the property is entirely satisfactory.

The company is working 45 men at the present time and with the new work a larger shift will no doubt be put on.

PERVIS & CALEY WORKING

NEW LEVEL IN BLOCK 239

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 15.—The output from block 239 of the Stratton estate shipped by Lessees Pervis and Caley last month was eight cars, counting the amount of development work which is now being done on the bottom level a level which has just been opened following the sinking of the shaft.

A drift is being run into the ore on the vein and so far the values have been proven up.

Indications are that they have enough ore opened to permit good production for some time, it is said.

OCTOBER PRODUCTION OF

JERRY JOHNSON 15 CARS

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 15.—The Jerry Johnson output for last month was 15 cars while the grade of the ore ran about an ounce to the ton. Frank Caley, who has the main lease, shipped eight cars, the fifth level where he has been stoping for some time. It is about 70 feet north of the shaft and the stop is now about half way between the level of 650 and 550. He has been operating here for eight months. There is yet a good deal of ore in sight in this stop which will be taken out immediately.

There are four sets of sublessees getting out some ore. Seven cars were shipped last month by them, Cogitzer and company sent out two cars from the first level while Erickson and Bralnard who are stoping a vertical vein on the same level billed out three cars. Sublessees Anderson and another by the name of Duffy are working down some of the old stopes which were found to be rich and they are each preparing a shipment which will be gotten out shortly.

Three machines are now being worked and the compressor at the shaft house was started up a month ago. There have been no new shoots opened recently. Caley is running a raise from 650 in one of the old stopes just south of his ore shoots and it is expected that ore will soon be opened in this place.

RAISING FOR SHOOT IN THE DOCTOR-JACK POT

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 15.—After sinking the Davenport shaft of the Doctor-Jack Pot a lift of a hundred feet Jerome Beard, who opened some very fine ore in the level above south of the shaft has drifted under the vein and then raised and the raise was within 60 feet of the level and within 20 feet of the bottom of the vein which he struck. Beard says that the values went down but it has been found since the present development that the values were cut off.
